N. E. GAS WINS CASE

TOWN MUST GIVE BUILDING PERMIT

The two happiest persons in Middlesex County, this week, must be Atty. Simon Cutter of Wilmington, and John A. Mooney Jr. of Winchester.

The two men have just won a favorable decision in the case for General Dynamics Corp., which has been in litigation for years. The case is that of New England Gas Products, Inc. vs. Walter L. Hale Jr., et als as the Board of Appeals of Wilmington.

Justice Charles Fairhurst of the Middlesex Superior Court, in a 37 page decision dated April 21, 1961, has ordered the Board of Appeals to give a Building Permit, or to cause the Building Inspector of the Town of Wilmington to give a Building Permit to New England Gas Products, for a gas manufacturing plant in South Wilmington.

The case, which dates back to 1952, has seen three separate court actions, and three separate Board of Appeals hearings Cutter, who is Moderator for the Town of Wilmington, represented New England Gas in the case, and Mooney, as an official of the company, was one of the instrumental factors in winning the case.

Invited to Dinner

The case, which this paper has characterized as the case of the Man who was Invited to Dinner and told to Bring his Own Duck, involves a proposed $400,000 plant for the manufacture of acetylene and other gases, on 34 acres of land in what was once the Town Farm of Wilmington.

New England Gas was invited to locate here, by the then Board of Selectmen and Town Manager, in 1952, after a fire had destroyed their Malden facility.

The Town sold them 35.65 acres of land, in a Town Meeting on Sept. 8, 1952, for the sum of $3600. A Board of Appeals hearing, on Sept. 11th of the same year, resulted in an unanimous verdict in favor of the company, with specific provision and permission to build and operate a plant for the production of acetylene, oxygen and hydrogen gases and other products. The decision was signed by Howard Woolaver, Chairman, Winston C. Chamberlain, Secretary, and Joseph Maynard, of the Appeal Board.

Under provisions of an agreement with then Town Manager Dean C. Cushing the company installed a water main from Butters Row, down Main Street

NO PLASTERED CEILINGS IN SALEM ST. SCHOOL?

By taking advantage of every economy, including not plastering the ceilings of the classrooms, the new Intermediate School, off Salem St. can be built within the appropriation of $1,057,000, the Permanent Building Committee was told, last week.

Not plastering the ceilings would mean an increase noise level, perhaps poorer lighting and certainly more maintainance costs, the architect told the Permanent Building Committee. The underfloor section of the rooms above would have to be painted, and painting would be more difficult because of the corners.

The architect's message found the Permanent Building Committee divided in opinions.

$50,000 had been lopped off the money that the Permanent Building Committee had asked for, in the Town Meeting. The appropriation was reduced this amount at the recommendation of the Finance Committee.

PBC member Joseph Courtney told the meeting, last Thursday, that 'the town voted that we were to build a school for this money, and if it is possible to do so we should'.

Other members of the committee disagreed.

Raymond McClure stated 'I don't want to start building a million dollar school with only $1,000 or $2,000 as a margin - anything can happen while we are building it'.

Paul Niles, Secretary, added, 'Yes, we will have to go back to the town and get more money before this is over - so we skimp now and then get the money, and the result will be a poorer building.'

He pointed out that even with one or two thousand dollars to spare the committee had no knowledge of how much it was going to cost to move, or to build a new home, for the Cowie family.

The Cowie home is on the school site, and must be moved to another site, by town vote. The moving is to be in charge of the Selectmen, and was estimated to cost $12,000. Recent figures show that the cost may be higher than this.

The meeting broke up without any decision on the part of the P. B. C.

ECONOMY IS A GREAT SLOGAN

We congratulate the TM. He has saved the sum of $15, for the taxpayers of Wilmington.

Such a savings, of course, is tremendous, and will reflect in our tax-rate to the eventual advantage of our tax-payers.

How did the TM save $15?

He put an advertisement in the "newspaper" which the people of Wilmington refused to buy. He took advantage of the fact that this "newspaper" offers cut rate bargains, when the opportunity offers.

Of course if this "newspaper" had had its way there would be no Town Manager's job in Wilmington, for Mr. Lancaster or anyone else.

When the Town Crier, a few years ago, showed the taxpapers how to save $400,000 in the building of a school, the taxpayers took advantage, and saved this money.

Since then the taxpayers have doubled this savings, making the total savings over $800,000

In addition to this, other suggestions made by the Town Crier, and adopted in Town Meeting have saved about another $200,000, making the total about $1,000,000.

And what was the position of this "newspaper "We have to have a school" they wailed. They weren't worrying about the taxpayer, nor were they on later occasions, as when they ganged up with some store owners to persuade the town that it didn't need a shopping center which would have paid taxes of $25,000 yearly.

And on that occasion the TM sat like a lump on a log.

But cheer up - now he has saved us $15.

Economy is a great slogan.

LETTER

April 29, 1961

Dear Larz:

Who is this person 'Name withheld by request'? He's not listed anywhere in the Town records.

Believe me, that letter dated April 25, 1961, entitled 'What Price Glory' was very confusing. (Did you get a new steno who transposed the letter in some way?) I might have a better understanding if I knew whether or not a teacher, pupil or parent wrot it. Consequently, I'm serious when I ask you: What exactly does the letter mean?

After rereading it sex times I don't mind telling you I'm confused but I have a faint glimmering that money is at the bottom of the whole thing. Well you and I know the old adages that money is the root of all evil and that the fastest way to lose a friend is to lend him a buck (or ever faster - do what I'M doing: Write a signed letter to your paper)

Should we pat the teachers on the back or condemn them for something? I personally think that the Mardi Gras was a marvelous thing from every point of view. The only trouble is that it was such an outstanding performance that it will be difficult to attain such heights in future years. On the other hand much reference was made to the Senior Class of 1961. So what's wrong with the Class?

As you know, I am extremely interested in the schools, and this is how I see a few things

Certainly the Teacher's Mardi Gras was a money-making proposition -ostensibly to start, add to or end a scholarship fund. Obviously, the Senior Play 'Harvey' was to raise money. Traditionally, Class plays raise money for scholarships. I would presume, as adults would, that that was the purpose for the sale of tickets to 'Harvey'.

Some teacher were for and some against the Mardi Gras. Perhaps some of them wanted the Mardi Grws because they are sick and tired of being ashamed on graduation day when an embarrassed principal hands out a few nigzardly scholarships worth only $100 each. Perhaps the teachers against the Mardi Gras would not sanction the necessity to put on such an exhibition because they would thereby condone the dissipation of hundreds of dollars of class funds. For instance. Exactly how many hundred of dollars should be spent decorating the gym for a Prom? Exactly how many tons of crepe paper is needed? How many banquets need be given a pupil merely because he participated in something? Do we always have to brive and/or reward a pupil for something he is supposed to do?

My children are teen agers and their conception of $100 and mine are two different things. Consequently, when a class has raised $1500 or more, believe me, there is bound to be chaos relative to spending it. Here we have a conflict between the teachers, pupils and parents. The pupils, of course, naturally, feel that they have raised the money so consequently they only should decide what to do with it. Then again, many parents feel that the pupils are only trustees of the money (because 90% came out of the parents' pockets in the first place) and so advise their kids that the Class expenses should be paid out of this fund. Now what the teachers think should happen to this money is another matter. This is the least understood part of the whole deal. I will frankly admit, I don't know myself, and I'm not alone in this as no other parent knows either. I do know that there are teachers who are class advisors. They do, on occasion tell the classes that some vague group called 'the office' or 'the other teachers' veto an idea. Nevertheless, the Class advisors do have a great influence relative to the class decisions and believe me from my point of view, many decisions are beauts. Consequently, it is my feeling that these class advisors should be mature, middle-aged, sensible and what the kids call 'party-poopers' who have the wisdom to do what they are supposed to do - Advise The Class - and know when to say No and not give in to their every whim and fancy.

The time was when a Senior Class presented the school with a scholarship (or added to an already existing fund), gave the school a substantial gift, like a clock, (depending on the state of the Class treasury) and went on a class picnic. The tickets to the Prom paid for the cost of the Prom.

Now, however, each class tries to out-do the preceeding one. To raise money they browbeat shoppers in supermarkets to buy cakes, raise money in dozens of different ways, then sit down at a big meeting and try to figure out the fastest way to spend it or even worse, vote retroactively to o.k. an expenditure.

No pupil, teacher or parent can tell me that any class needs $1500 to spend while they are contributing so little to a scholarship fund or expending so little to the other costs of extra-curicular expenses. For instance. The pupils pay out their own cash for Class rings, pictures and yearbook. A ticket to the Prom costs between $10 and $30 apiece. If the graduation exercises are held in the football field, it's a cinch not much money is spent on a bunch of flowers on the Speaker's Rostrum. The gifts to the school have been so insignificant, that I can't recall having heard anyone mention one since I lived in this town. In the past few years, some classes have had the next thing to a revolution over a free(?) class picnic. Now, since each pupil pays for everything, What in the name of all that is Holy does any Class need $1500 or even $150. Where does the money go? A great many parents would like to know.

I frankly think that the time has come for the School Committee to put a little thought to this subject of money. I send my children to school to learn their lessons in the Three Rs, not to learn to raise money. I hope, when and if they graduate, they'll go out and earn it. I am heartily sick of money, money, money for something. It would be well for the School Committee to find out how this money business in schools has snowballed. The whole money business is no good and something must be drastically wrong when hysterical letters like that April 25th letter is sent to the Editor.

My parting thought on this subject is that before we graduate the biggest crop of professional money raisers, we should give the teaching business back to Barney and the banking business back to Joe.

Sincerely,
M. Flora Kasabuski

WHITEFIELD SCHOOL STUDENTS HAVE IDENTIFICATION-TAGS

The Whitefield Parent-Teachers Assocation has completed its Civil Defense Identification Tag Program, whereby about 70% of the children will be wearing attractive stainless steel tags for emergency identification. In some instances, parents and other members of the family have also obtained tags through this program.

The program was made possible through the encouragement and assistance of the Wilmington Civil Defense Agency and its director, Rene J. LaRivee.

The ID tag program was launched as a means of providing protection to the children in the event of a castrophe, as well as in a spirit of cooperation with the national Civil Defense effort

Besides name and address, and telephone number, the tags also list any physical conditions peculiar to the individual, such as penicillin allergy, diabetes, blood type, etc., and the name of the next of kin.

Final plans have been made for the next project at the Whitefield School. A whist party is scheduled for 8 pm Monday, May 8th at the Wildwood School. There are to be prizes and refreshments, and a door prize, and the public is invited.

The annual meeting of the Whitefield PTA will be held at 8 pm May 22nd at the Whitefield School. A timely animated sound film 'Down to Earth' will be shown, courtesy of Avco. The film concerns the successful solution of the nosecone re-entry problem.

Although the business session will include the election of new officers, the association will welcome anyone who wants to see the film.

'OPERATION ABOLITION' HERE TWICE MONDAY

The movie 'Operation Abolition is a report of some events surrounding hearings of the Congressional Un-American Activities in San Francisco, on May 12-14, 1960. It is an edited movie, taken by two California Television stations and in recent weeks it has caused some controversy, in showings across the country.

The controversy is about how the events happened, and how they are reported. Many groups vouch for the truthfullness of the film while admitting distortions, and other groups and individuals, which include the National Council of Churches of Christ in America, the Mass achusetts Council of Churches and the Civil Liberties Union feel that the movie is a distortion of facts, and should only be presented when the distortions are pointed out before the movie is shown.

These people point out that students, who had gathered before the San Francisco City Hall and in the hallways were not allowed into the hearing room after waiting long periods of time; that there was a separate and distinct group outside the City Hall which was demonstrating against the Committee for its action of the year previous, when it had suppeoned 110 educators, published their names in local newspapers, and they dropped the hearings, and that there was, finally, a group of known and alleged Communists who had been subpoened by the Committee for the scheduled hearings

The movie was shown twice in Wilmington Monday night, in the High School as a part of a Junior Class banquet, and in the American Legion Hall as a part of the Legion's activities.

The Rev. Richard Harding was at both places. He was, as he reported, concerned that the movies would be presented with out the discrepancies in the film being called to the attention of the viewers.

The film had been shown to a men's group in the Methodist Church the week before, and Mr Harding had preached a sermon on it Sunday, entitled 'Fighting with Falsehoods', with reference to the use of the movies to fight the ruthlessness and treachery of Communism. Because of his sermon Sunday he had been invited to both showings, that in the High School, and that in the Legion Hall.

The High School showing was without incident, and Supt. of Schools Harold Shea, who circulated among the viewers, stated afterwards that he believed they had viewed it as an objective lesson.

After the film had been shown a public forum was held. One of the first to rise was the Rev. Mr. Harding. He asked if he might make a statement, and speak from the chair, as the chairman was doing.

This privilege was denied by Mr. Nee, who stated that this was a public forum, and that questions would be answered. The Rev. Mr. Harding turned and walked out, followed by several individuals.

Shortly afterwards about a dozen ladies walked out, not a part of Mr. Harding's group. Some of them are connected with the League of Women Voters.

Nee explained to the audience that the committee did not allow prepared statements to be read from the chair.

Past Commander Jimmy Fairweather stood up to say that Mr. Harding was there as his guest and that he knew that Mr Harding was not planning to read from a prepared statement, and further that the piece of paper the minister had had in his hand was one of the pieces of literature which had been handed out, that evening.

Mr. Harding, shortly afterwards returned.

Nee had been explaining that -- 'this is our forum. I think that there has been a misunderstanding from the start'. He went on to say that in effect that there had been attempts to read a statement from the Christian Century in the meetings - 'The Christian Century is -- sort of a Bible -- for clergymen of the nation. Up until this film was shown in Rockport, it was my understanding that the Council of Churches was against it --- but 7 clergymen were there --- one of them made a statement that the clergy were not against the showing of this film -- I also have a letter from Don Zinkle which states that the 7 men had resigned from the council' He went on to say that he was sorry he could not tell all the story - 'It will be made public later on.

Podenstein read a quotation from a paper reporting the activities of the Rev. Father John Joyce, Editor of the Oklahoma Courier, which said in effect that the film Operation Abolition was 'distortions so blatant - in net effect a lie' Podenstein continued: I think you will find clergy of all faiths and groups defending students - they are not all Communist inspired.

Nee: Not all the students in the film were led by Commu-

THE SPEAKERS

Hoover also pointed out that there were distortions --

Mr. Harding: Those persons who were first admitted into the San Francisco hall on May 12-14, 1960 -- on what basis? I understand that there were some who were allowed in first Nee: On a first come first serve basis - there were some people from different societies.

Harding: I understand that there were 100 white passes, which would allow from 3 to 6 individuals to enter the hearing room, and this ahead of those waiting in line --

Nee: But that was for the different members of the societies we mentioned.

- it was afterwards - but it shows the Communist responsibility.

Harding: Does this mean the picture would not be shown in court as evidence?

Manning: I could not answer that. I feel you are mistaken - this is an open meeting. We haven't offered this movie as a perfect story any more than you would offer one of your sermons as perfect.

Jacqueline Platt: I saw a film - it is being shown in the Far East - which shows Americans eating out of garbage cans - and soldiers marching on rioters. Of course they are old films and you and I know that this is part of the Communist propraganda - but it brings up the question - what is truth? If we delete part of a film are we telling the truth?

Manning: The suggestion is that because we deleted 2 minor parts that we are not telling the truth - in no way did these deltions reflect on the import of the film.

George Spanos: You gentlemen fought overseas. You saw foreign service. You want to clean up the Communists - out of the country - never mind the talk about them! I am sick and tired of hearing about Communists! Lets talk about America!

Condon: 90 miles from America -today - Castro talked about Socialism in Cuba. The only way of combatting Communism is by knowing - in my humble opinion this is the film that shows what 7 hard core Communists can do with impressionable children. Only by knowing what is going on is the only way I know how to fight Communism.

Miss Diane Imbimbo: I am a Senior in Wilmington High School. Far too many of my classmates are not aware of what goes on - what can be done to make them aware?

Nee: There is some literature - the Marquette University High School published a paper 'Truth about Communism' (He held up a copy) It is well prepared - excellent guidance group - might be well for some of your classmates to get some of these.

Condon: In our state we have laws to this effect - Chapter 71, Section 2, which says that the schools shall teach American history and local history, and the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights, and the Declaration of Independence. Monday night, passed a resolution asking that the Little League Auxiliary be reconstituted.

The appeal was directed to the mothers of Little Leaguers and emphasizes the work and importance of the ladies, in Little League.

While the membership of men in the Little League has nearly always been constant, that of the ladies has varied, depending on such pressing problems as to 'who is going to take care of the baby' and 'who is going to cook the supper'.

In spite of the title of this story there has always been good relations between the ladies and the men, even though sometimes the relationship has its joking moments.

The resolution stated that 'The common goal of Little League and its Auxiliary lies in their co-ordination, working toward the successful operation of the League in the best interests of each and every Little Leaguer. The Auxiliary is the liason between the League and the Home. It becomes a Ways and Means Committee in fund raising, and in bringing additional volunteers into the program. It relieves the League male personnel to important tasks of supervising the youngsters both on and off the field. In this way Little League truly becomes a 'Family Project'.

Any mothers interested can call Little League President Joe Peters, at OL 8 4174.

N.E. GAS WINS CASE

to its site, at a cost of $11,433.70.

The agreement was that the company would be re-inbursed during the next 15 years by having to pay for only 10% of the water it used, the remaining 90% going towards paying for the water main, until 90% of the cost of the mwin had been amortized.

New England Gas also did exploratory work, seeking for additional water, because it felt a need for more water than the town could supply. The company bought two diesels which it warehoused, pending construction, because, as noted in the decision, if felt that the electric power supplied by the Reading Municipal Light Department was 'out of line' as far as costs went.

Licenses for the storage of diesel oil, heating oil, and a number of gases, were issued by the Board of Selectmen on Oct. 10, 1952.

Delay in Building

The case of the Town of Wilmington was built around the fact that after the licenses were issued New England Gas did not apply for a building permit for some years, and that in the interum period the town had changed its Zoning By Law.

The Judge held that in the granting of the variance by the Board of Appeals the company had acquired a re-zoning of the land, and that while it was true there had been a delay in an application for a building permit this was not an unreasonable delay, in view of the size of the project.

Change in TM

The court also noticed that in the interum there had been a change in the Town Manager. It commented that the town had not made any official complaint, nor had any action been taken or threatened 'until AVCO, and industrial plant came to town in 1956 located next door -- things took a different complexion. AVCO wanted to buy the locus and abutting land. The petitioner (New England Gas) was unwilling, but did accomodate in part and sold it (AVCO) two acres for a road. But it seems more than a coincidence that the attitude of Town officials seemed to change. Nearly every legal obstacle imaginable has been placed in the path of this petitioner to obtain the right to build as authorized in 1952 by unanimous action of the then -- Board of Appeals.'

'I find that the petitioner never abandoned its rights under special permit and never intended to do so. Since 1952, the petitioner, in good faith, has desired to build its plant on the permitted site'

In 1957 the company applied for a building permit, and was refused by the Building Inspector, Minot J. Anderson, on the grounds that the land had been rezoned.

A Board of Appeals hearing was held, on March 14, 1957. Mr. Hale was chairman at this time, and it was against him, as chairman, that the court action was taken.

The court held that the notice which read 'requested for a variance in the Zoning Laws' was arbitrary and that the decision turning down the appeal was 'not lawfully adjucated'.

This hearing had been the result of an agreement in court during a trial of the case, whereby New England Gas would submit a list of conditions to which it would agree, if it were to be issued a building permit. One of the items in this special agreement, drawn up by Cutter, was an insurance policy of $2,000,000 against injury to person or property in Wilmington. Other items included a guaranteed building program, and a guarantee that nothing not listed would be done.

After the hearing there was a meeting of some town officials in the cellar of the Town Hall of which the court took special note - 'That there was a lengthy meeting -- there were several speakers -- AVCO was discussed. There is no evidence that the petitioner was invited to attend'.

'It appears that the Board gave no consideration to the 'proposed conditions' that were submitted'.

The Third Appeal

A third Board of Appeals hearing was held on Oct. 30, 1958, on the suggestion of Judge Fairhurst, as a result of the continuation of the case in court.

There were members of the Wilmington Planning Board who did not consent to this third hearing, as they believed they had a right to do under Chapter 40A of the General Laws.

Judge Fairhurst held that the Appeal Board was wrong in this case. It based its denial on Chapter 40A, 'that a petitioner may not re-appeal within a period of two years without consent of every member of the Planning Board, and since the consent of every member of said Board was not obtained, and two years have not elapsed since the most recent hearing, the Board denies the request of the petitioner'.

This was beyond the authority of the Board, Judge Fairhurst decided, in that there was no evidence that the town had ever accepted the provisions of Chapter 40A.

Located in Tewksbury

General Dynamics, which has bought New England Gas since the case first went to court, has since acquired property off Shawsheen Street, in Tewksbury. and has expressed its intention to build the disputed plant in that town.

What change, if any, the ruling of Judge Fairhurst will make in the plans of General Dynamics is not known - but if the company now wants to build in Wilmington there is nothing to stop them.

RICKY FROTTON PITCHES A NO HITTER

WILMINGTON 4 NO ANDOVER 0

Ricky Frotton, 17 year old Junior in Wilmington High School pitched a No Hitter, Friday afternoon, against the North Andover High School team and thus leading the Wilmington team to its third League win of the series.

It was the first No Hitter by a Wilmington High School pitcher since Joe Woods Jr. defeated Tewksbury in a game played back in 1940.

The son of Mr and Mrs Burton Frotton of Middlesex Ave, Ricky has been successively the star pitcher of the Little League and the Pony League, and now is filling the same bill with Wilmington High School's nine.

He has allowed only one hit in two games, so far, this season. Last year, while playing in the Pony League he pitched a No Hitter against a Reading Team.

Ricky pitched five perfect innings. In the first and second innings one hit was made each time, a grounder to third base, each of which resulted in an out.

The game saw Wilmington make 7 hits, 2 by Melzar, 2 by Grant, and 1 each by Damelio, Gillis and Frotten. Melzar scored two runs, Gillis 1, and Rexford one on balls.

TEAM HAS WON 4, LOST 0

The team's record, as of Wednesday morning, was four wins and no losses, in the Lowell Suburban League play.

But the game with Dracut was a close one, won in the eighth inning when Fields singled to drive in the winning run.

Ricky Frotten gets the credit for the win. He pitched 2 2/3 innings, and Jeff Williamson the first part.

The game was marked by the phenonomal hitting of Driscoll who played shortstop for Dracut. Driscoll hit a single, a double, and a triple.

Melzar, Frotton and Beaton each had two hits for Wilmington. Runs were scored by Gillis, Beaton, Frotton and Blackburn, who was running for Damelio, who had got a walk in the 8th inning.

The game was tied all the way until the eighth, each team getting a run in the 3rd, the 6th and the 7th innings.

CAGY SAM TO BE GIVEN OFFICIAL ESCORT ON SOFTBALL OPENING DAY

Cagy Sam Ethier, for many years the manager of the Gildart Townies, the mwn who built the team to its pre-eminent position in the Wilmington Softball League, is to be given an official escort to the field, on the opening day game, next Monday evening.

From there Sam will proceed on his own, to his usual post of Third Pase Coach, supervising the Townie traffic on its way to Home Plate.

Sam, last year, after many years of coaching his team, for which he won due renown, noticed that the hair on his head was turning grey. Worry no doubt, was the cause - not his advancing years.

Sam relegated the coaching to Jimmy Tighe, and took over the General Managership, a job that gave him the opportunity of inventing the Cagy Sam Scoring Stick. But after a game with the Merrimacs, last fall, in which Paul McCabe's boys crossed the plate so many times that the scoring sticks were all broken up, Sam dropped that idea. Too much cleaning up afterwards, he explained.

Anyway, Sam is going to be standing near Third Pase, in the opening game, Monday, sans scoring sticks. His job is to push the Townies down to Home Plate, in case they can't proceed under their own steam.

The Townies are the Defending Champions, as this year's season opens. They will be playing Louie's Oilers in the opening game, which starts at 6:30 pm., in the Town Park.

LITTLE LEAGUE NEEDS AN OFFICIAL SCORER

Wilmington Little-League, now on its way towards the Opening Game, is in need of an Official Scorer.

This important and essential assignment has yet to be filled. The qualifications are: Ability to record At Bats Hits, Runs, Strike-outs, Walks etc., and to Call the Errors.

The Official Scorer must be available four evenings a week Monday thru Thursday.

Compensation: No Pay, Lots of Rhubarb, and the Sympathy and Appreciation of the entire Little League.

Applicants should call Joe Peters, Little League President, at OL 8 4174.
